Defiant Lives
Monday, March 7 - Friday, March 11

A triumphant film that traces the origins of the world-wide disability rights movement. It tells the stories of the individuals who put their lives on the line to create a better world where everyone is valued and can participate. Featuring interviews and rarely seen archival footage, the film reveals how these activists fought to live outside of institutions, challenged the stigmas and negative image of disability portrayed by the media, demanded access to public transportation, and battled to reframe disability rights as a social responsibility relevant to us all.

Nothing Without Us: The Women Who Will End AIDS
Monday, March 14 - Friday, March 18

The inspiring story of the vital role that women have played - and continue to play - in the global fight against HIV/AIDS is the focus of this film. Combining archival footage and interviews with activists, scientists and scholars in the US and Africa, this film reveals how women not only shaped grassroots groups but have also played an essential part in prevention and treatment access. From beauty parlors in Baton Rouge to the first HIV clinic in Burundi, this film looks boldly at the unaddressed dynamics that keep women around the world at high-risk for HIV, while introducing the remarkable women who have the answers to ending this 30-year old pandemic.

A Normal Girl
Monday, March 21 - Friday, March 25

Activist Pidgeon Pagonis was born intersex, not conforming to standard definitions of male or female, and experienced genital mutilation as a child. Now Pidgeon is fighting the medical establishment, seeking to end medically unnecessary surgeries and human rights abuses on intersex people in the United States around the world. An estimated 1.5% of the population is born with intersex traits. Through the story of Pidgeon’s remarkable journey and fight for bodily self-determination, this film brings the widely unknown struggles of intersex people to light.

Feed the Green: Feminist Voices for the Earth
Monday, March 28 - Friday, April 1

This informative documentary features feminist thinkers whose voices are powerfully juxtaposed with images from popular culture, including advertising, myth, art, and the news, pointing to the ways that an environmentally destructive worldview is embedded in contemporary and historical popular discourses. Discussions include the parallels between violence against women and violence against Earth, the disastrous and continuing impacts of European colonization, and the ways that the ill effects of environmental damage are felt disproportionately by those who face racial and socioeconomic inequalities.
